Two New Teams
This expansion introduces the A-Force and the Femme Fatales teams.

AKA
Some characters have AKA and another name in their text box. For example, Captain Marvel says “AKA Ms. Marvel” in her text box. This means that she counts as having both names, which means you can use a Ms. Marvel supporting character to power up Captain Marvel, and they both count as the same person for the purposes of the Uniqueness rules.

Daze
Some effects say to “Daze” a character. This means stun the character (turn it face down) except the character doesn’t get a wound.

Rules Lawyer
She-Hulk’s main character introduces a new kind of super power called a Reaction. It reads:

Reaction 😵: When an enemy player uses a super power, you may say “Objection!” If you do, cancel that super power.

Reaction powers trigger when a certain condition is met (in this case it’s “When an enemy player uses a super power”). When that happens you can pay an ⚖️ (and say “Objection” of course) and if you do it cancels the super power so it never takes effect.

You can use a Reaction power at any time, as long as its trigger condition is met. However, like other super powers, you can only use it once per turn.

Absorb Powers
Rogue has the ability to gain the keyword and super powers of supporting characters she’s KO’d. When she does this, if that character’s power refers to its own name, use Rogue’s name instead.

Durable
Titania has the new Durable keyword. This means if she gets stunned in some way that isn’t getting struck in combat, she recovers and doesn’t get wounded. However, if she was in the middle of combat when she got stunned (perhaps by Sin’s super power), even though she would recover immediately, getting stunned would still remove her from combat.

Mobile
Mobile is a new keyword that lets you move a character to a different one of your rows once per turn. Note: You can’t use the power while a combat is going on or if an effect is in the middle of resolving.

Growing Magic
Morgan le Fay’s super power counts how many times you’ve used a power named Growing Magic this game. This means that if you use the power a few times on one card and then later use it on a different card, all of those usages count.
Remove from the Game
Some effects remove characters or cards from the game. In these cases, set those cards aside out of play. They do not count as being in the KO pile.

Token Characters
Goblin Queen has the power to make token characters. A token character works just like a regular character except that if it ever gets put into a KO pile or otherwise leaves play, remove it from the game.

Deck Lists
Here are a pair of quick deck lists designed to introduce you to the characters and Plot Twists for the new teams. You can use any Main Characters, but some will be stronger than others with these lists.

A-Force
• 2 Sister Grimm
• 2 Wasp
• 2 Meggan
• 2 Pixie
• 2 Spider-Woman
• 3 Medusa
• 2 Singularity
• 2 Dazzler
• 3 She-Hulk
• 2 Miss America
• 2 Spectrum
• 2 Loki
• 2 Rogue
• 2 Phoenix
• 4 Heroines of Arcadia
• 4 You Won’t Like Her When She’s Angry
• 4 Build a Better World
• 2 Main Strength
• 4 Arcadia
• 3 Academy
• 3 Fortress
• 3 Laboratory
• 3 Training Ground

Femme Fatales
• 2 Black Cat
• 4 Madame Masque
• 2 Moonstone
• 2 Sin
• 2 Titania
• 2 Nebula
• 2 Silver Sable
• 2 Goblin Queen
• 2 Spiral
• 2 Satana
• 2 Viper
• 2 Lady Deathstrike
• 2 Morgan le Fay
• 2 Enchantress
• 4 Femme Fatality
• 4 Dramatic Entrance
• 4 Cat Fight
• 2 Main Strength
• 4 Madripoor
• 3 Academy
• 3 Fortress
• 3 Laboratory
• 3 Training Ground

Credits
Game Design and Card Set Design: Ben Cichoski and Danny Mandel (Super Awesome Games)
Brand Manager: Jason Brenner
Product Manager and Art Direction: Bubby Johanson
Graphic Design: Krista Timberlake
Project Manager: Louise Bateman
President, Upper Deck Company: Jason Masherah
Director of Creative Services: Mike Eggleston
Additional Development: Chad Daniel, Mark Shaunessy, Jeff Piroozshad and Luis Sumano